Are you talented enough? Top performers will be invited to one of the 2012 U.S. Cyber Challenge Summer Camps and receive training by cyber security professionals. Students are invited to compete for a spot at these camps via the Cyber Quests Competition.

Cyber Quests is an on-line competition that tests students' abilities to identify vulnerabilities in a virtual network and answer questions related to their findings. The competition will be held from April 16 through April 30.

Registration is open April 4-16 at www.USCyberChallenge.org

At the camp, students will engage in Web-delivered training sessions and exercises on topics ranging from intrusion detection to forensics. These classes will be taught by industry professionals and accompanied by workshops, labs, and competitions, conducted in person by faculty members from various universities, security practitioners across industries and the U.S. government.

Each camp will also provide students the opportunity to engage with major technology companies and government agencies at job fairs. Some students may also be eligible for additional prizes and recognition.

To compete, sign up at www.USCyberChallenge.org.
Additional awards and scholarships will be available to eligible participants.
